Dear Bride to be,

Thank you for your interest in our services. Atlanta Bands and DJ's is a team of top professional wedding reception entertainers. Currently, our DJ's have the combined experience of well over 3500 wedding receptions. We have an ongoing training program and we all share our talents and experience with each other and produce a very consistent, professional and fun show.

Part of our service is to coordinate all the events of your wedding reception, keep the guests entertained, make sure the photographer and videographer are in the room every time a significant event draws near and STILL make you and your groom the star of the show! We custom tailor each wedding to make sure your wedding day is EXACTLY the way you hoped it would be.

If you require any more information, or would like to arrange a meeting in our office, please call or email anytime. Atlanta Bands and DJ's is fully licensed and insured. We are members of the Better Business Bureau, Association for Wedding Professionals International and accept all major credit cards.

Thanks and I hope to hear from you soon,

Ted Crowder / President

Helpful hints for filling out your planners

● Arrival Options

When the bride and groom arrive, it is customary to announce them into the room. You can also have the Bridal Party and even both sets of parents announced, if you'd like. If announced, the bridal party can stand along the rear edge of the dance floor to provide a backdrop for the first dance.

● First Dances

The bride and groom's first dance usually takes place the moment they enter the room. On some occasions, the schedule or layout of the room is such that it is more appropriate to wait until after the food is served before doing the first dance. You also have the option to have the bridal party join you for the second half of your first dance, if you so desire. If the Bridal Party does not join the Bride and Groom in their first dance, there can be a more upbeat song played after the meal for the bridal party dance and to begin the dancing for the evening. The bridal party dance is the most optional of the customary dances.

Immediately following the bride and groom's dance, the Bride and her father will normally dance, followed by the groom and his mother. Because guests tend to get restless if made to watch three consecutive slow dances, most people choose for the groom and his mother to join the bride and her father for the second half of their dance.

● Cake Cutting / Toast

The toast and cutting of the cake are normally done immediately following food service, before the dancing begins. (Some Northern traditions place the cutting of the cake later in the evening and place the toast prior to food service.) Most importantly, do it the way you want it done!

● Garter / Bouquet Toss

This is normally done about halfway through the dancing portion of the evening. Some people elect not to throw one or the other or sometimes both. If you choose not to toss a garter or bouquet, you can always substitute the tosses for the elimination dance. The way this is done is by inviting all of the married couples on the dance floor for a slow song of your choosing. You then dismiss couples who have been married one day or less, then one year or less, then five years or less and so on. When you have one couple left dancing the bride and groom present them with the garter and bouquet.

● Last Dance

This can be any slow song of the couple's choosing. You may elect to play your first dance song over, inviting all your guests to join you this time. If you were debating between two songs for a first dance, you could also put the second choice in the last dance spot. Finally, you may elect to play a song that is appropriate for an ending, such as "Goodnight Sweetheart". You may want to have the last dance 15 or 20 minutes prior to leaving to allow some time to say Goodnight to your guests.

● Overall Music Selection

The formula for music selection that we have found works best is to divide the selections into thirds. In the three hours that is normally allotted for dancing there is time for 60-75 songs. If the bride and groom choose 25, the DJ chooses 25, based on what the bride and groom have chosen but to give him a chance to use his experience, then we leave room for the guests to make some requests, that tends to make everyone happy. The bride and groom can also choose a list of songs not to be played, if they so desire.

Video/DVD

If you use one of our DJ's:

Our video division can supply a professional videographer for your special day. The video tells the story of the wedding day, follows a definite flow of events and captures significant moments. We use professional grade equipment and you get a DVD of your wedding day.

There is no 'baby picture montage' or subtitles and credits do not roll when the video is over, but it's over $1000 cheaper than the price of the average wedding video! Our professional videographer captures the ceremony and reception for 5 hours of shooting time and up to two locations.

If a full production video isn't in the budget, we offer quite a nice alternative that still provides you with a professional record of your wedding day. You always have the option to take the digital tapes and have something fancier made in the future.

DVD's can usually be picked up the week following the wedding and there is a cost of $25 per DVD when they are picked up.
